Trooper G. Howard Gregory chats with Captain R. H. Gormley, Commanding Officer of the USS John F. Kennedy (CVA67) on the bridge of the ship.

Local Trooper Gets Navy VIP Treatment

Trooper G. Howard Gregory, Appomattox Division, Virginia State Police, at the request of the U.S. Navy, has recently been flown out to meet a ship and to accompany troops home. The purpose of the trip was to meet a returning aircraft carrier and present highway safety programs for the benefit of returning service men.

Prior to this, the California Highway Patrol has been participating in this program and it was apparently successful, so, the Virginia State Police was asked to try out this program as many ships dock in Norfolk.

After having been at sea for six months to ten months, many of our service men have been killed in traffic accidents en route to their homes from the port. With this lapse in time, they could easily become unfamiliar with the feel of driving an automobile, unfamiliar with new road signs and could be thinking only of trying to get home as fast as possible. This is natural, but at the same time the Navy and the State Police want to be sure they are brought up to date regarding the handling of automobiles and these safety programs have appeared to be quite successful. It is quite a change when you are trying to get rid of your "sea legs" and get used to the feel of land after such a long period of time.

Out of a total of 1054 troopers in the Virginia State Police Department only two a year have the privilege of accepting this duty and this year it was the privilege of Trooper Gregory to become one of these two who were picked to go.

On Sept. 24, 1972, Trooper G. Howard Gregory drove to Norfolk and from Norfolk the Navy provided his transportation. Leaving Norfolk at 7:30 p.m., he was flown by National Air Lines to Kennedy Airport, New York, arriving there at 9:15 p.m. He changed planes in New York and flew by Pan American to Heathrow Airport in London, England, arriving in London at 10:30 a.m., London time (5 hrs. difference in our time). Gregory spent Monday and Monday night in London. On Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 26, he left Liverpool Street Train Station in London at 4:30 p.m. and traveled by train to Mildenhall Air Force Base where he spent the night in Bachelor Officer's Quarters at Mildenhall.

On Wednesday afternoon a Navy plane flew the local trooper to the USS John F. Kennedy which was in the North Sea taking part in the NATO exercises "Strong Express". Upon his arrival on board ship, he was met by Lt. Ed Anderson, a fighter pilot with Squadron VF-32, and Lt. (j.g.) Terry D. Brown, Assistant Safety Officer on the

Would You Like The Homecoming Game "Football"

Would you like to have the Homecoming Football game "game ball" for a keepsake, to give to your favorite "Raider" or to do whatever you would like to do with it?

Through the cooperation of head coach, Jerry Robinson, and his staff, the "game ball" has again this year been donated to the Appomattox County Rescue Squad to be used in an effort to raise funds for their Kantean Fund which is completely (as usual) down to a zero balance.

Friday, November 3rd, is Homecoming at Appomattox County High School, with the "kick-off" at 8:00 p.m., when the mighty Raiders take on a strong team from William Campbell.

By 6:45 p.m., members of the Appomattox County Rescue Squad will be stationed inside the gate and throughout the stadium offering chances on the "game ball" for a donation of 25¢ each or 5 chances for $1.00 All three of the Rescue Ambulances will most likely be on hand to stand-by throughout the game and tickets can be obtained at any of the vehicles.

Money for the ACRS Canteen Fund has, in the past, been earned by the members of the squad sponsoring bake sales, selling food at auctions and various other money making projects. The money in this fund is used for kitchen supplies (coffee and food) for flowers and gifts sent to hospitalized crew members, for a dinner once a year at the annual Installation of Officers meeting and for several needed items not bought with money out of the General Fund. Your support in this project will be appreciated.

Thanks to Coach Robinson and all those at ACHS who have made this possible. Bring some extra change with you . . . who knows, you may the lucky person who takes home the prized "game ball". Drawing will take place at half-time and the winner will be announced following half-time activities.

Abbitt Speaks To Buckingham Woman's Club

Buckingham - Representative Watkins M. Abbitt (D-Va.) said here today that Congress, in its next session, must adopt a more systematic method of fiscal controls "or we will soon face a dangerous financial crisis in America."

The Fourth District Congressman, who is not seeking re-election, told the Buckingham Women's Club that although he is opposed to the concept of a planned economy, "I feel that it is imperative that Congress and the Executive Branch soon undertake to adopt a more realistic approach to the needs of our nation . . . and get away from dealing with national problems on a piecemeal basis".

Under the present system, he said, Congress deals with hundreds of proposals "without any unified filtering system to determine priorities and how these proposals would fit into the national picture." This has resulted in mounting deficits through approving vast new spending while not reducing existing programs, he pointed out.

"We must recognize that the Federal treasury is not a

E. CARTER MARTIN APPOINTED DIRECTOR

At its October meeting the Virginia Soil and Water Conservation Commission appointed E. Carter Martin to serve as a director of the Robert E. Lee Soil and Water Conservation District. The Commission also approved the petitions to change the boundaries of the Conservation District. Buckingham and Cumberland Counties have withdrawn from the Robert E. Lee Conservation District. Lynchburg City, with its many urban conservation problems, has joined the Robert E. Lee Conservation District. Amherst, Appomattox, Campbell and the City of Lynchburg make up the Robert E. Lee Soil and Water Conservation District.

The appointment of E. Carter Martin was based on his conservation accomplishment and leadership in the community. He comes from a family of farmers. His four brothers are all top farmers. Carter has always worked to conserve and improve any land he farms. He farms his 300 acre farm and rents additional land. His farm is neat and a picture of good management and conservation. He is married to the former Louise Lewis and they have two daughters, Lucy, a sophomore at Longwood College and Mary Lou Torrence, Nowin, Texas.

Other directors of the Robert E. Lee Conservation District are John W. Hix, Appomattox, Hunter P. Evans, Russell Upshaw and Allan Hunter, Campbell, Ralph O. Tucker, and W. M. Fulcher, Amherst. Two directors from Lynchburg will be appointed at a later date.
